Notes

1. In 2020 and 2021 the Coronavirus epidemic and resultant restrictions and guidance stopped the Society from running its normal programme of events. In the end, the only event held in 2020 was a free online event in December 2020 combining the AGM with a free Dykes Bower Lecture. (The loss shown for that year was mainly in outgoings outstanding from earlier events.) And in 2021 in the end we ran two conferences (the one in Leeds a hybrid event - both in person and online, and the other purely online), the usual free AGM and Lecture and separate Dykes Bower Lecture, both online. The figure for conferences in 2021 is before taking account of Eventbrite fees. (See Note 8 below.)
2. These are payments from Publishers' Licensing Services for copying by students and others of our publications.
3. In 2020 interest and dividends were smaller than in 2019, and in 2021 they shrank further, in line with general changes in such income.
4. In 2021 grants were received toward publishing the papers from the Society's 2021 Leeds Minster Conference.
5. In 2020 one normal edition of ET was published, and the first of our new conference volumes, though the bills (coming to £9,895, including £895 in one-off design costs) were paid in early 2021. In 2021, two editions of ET were published, though most of the costs for the second were paid in early 2022.
6. In 2020 only one edition of Church Crawler was published, and the bills for that were paid in early 2021. In 2021, there were two editions of Church Crawler (of varying number of pages), though most of the costs of the second edition were paid in early 2022.
7. The AGM is normally a free event, associated with a free Annual Lecture open to everyone. In both years it was held online, combined in 2020 with a free Dykes Bower Lecture, and in 2021 with a separate Annual Lecture. (See Note 1 above.)
8. In 2021 we began to issue tickets for events mainly through Eventbrite. These are their charges for processing tickets for paid events.
9. These costs include travel costs of Council members (though there were hardly any in either year). As well as general post, they include the costs of one-off mailings to members when papers need to be sent when no publication is ready to take them as inserts. These costs will include also some overheads for the conference and other events.
10. The small surplus in 2020 arose only because significant publication costs for 2020 were carried over to the start of 2021. In real terms, there was a loss. The reasons included cancelling our normal events programme (sometimes yielding a surplus), and one-off costs for redesign arising from the new conference volumes, the first issued in December 2020. In 2021 the loss shown arose largely because the costs carried over from 2020 were greater than those now carried over from 2021 to the current year. In real terms, helped by a large surplus from the two conferences (an unusual outcome), the Society roughly broke even in 2021.
11. Some money is drawn down from the Life Members Fund each year to be treated as income for the year.
12. In 2020 the drawdown was unusually great largely because cash liabilities at the end of the year – mostly met early in 2021 – were unusually great.

Notes

1. At the end of both 2020 and 2021, our known cash liabilities consisted mainly of bills from our printer and our designer for publications.
2. The change in this surplus correctly does not equal the income for the year for a number of reasons (e.g. includes change in market value, and liabilities and accrued income have been revalued).

FUNDS

The Life Members Fund funds Life Members, from interest and capital in the Fund. It is topped up with funds from new Life Members.

Capital from the Special Purposes & Memorial Fund is used from time to time for special projects, often outside the routine of the Society's activities.

The Publications Fund is used amongst other things to support the cost of printing the publications distributed by the Society, including Ecclesiology Today and our new conference volumes.

The Activity Income Fund is used to expand the range and accessibility of activities carried out by the Society beyond what might otherwise be affordable. It currently provides an income of very roughly £680.00 per annum. It acts also as a contingency fund.

The Website Redevelopment Fund is used for upgrading and redeveloping the Society's website from time to time.

NON-FINANCIAL ASSETS

The Society possesses an old Kodak carousel projector of little or no value.

The Society possesses a set and a further part-set of The Ecclesiologist, available to the Editor of Ecclesiology Today for reference purposes.

The Society possesses a digital projector worth perhaps a couple of hundred pounds
